Southwestern Elects Oklahoma Hall Candidate

By DONNA PORTER

Diane Johnson, Altus junior, sponsored by Oklahoma Hall, was crowned Homecoming Queen at the conclusion of the Homecoming Assembly, Friday, Sept. 24. Other candidates were D'Linda Loveless, Hollis senior; Karen Voth, Kremlin junior; Dianna 'Teddy' Tedford, Lawton senior, and Lisa Sease, Duncan junior.

After Richard Phillips, Student Association president, welcomed students and faculty to the assembly, Dr. Terry Segress and the Bulldog Jazz Band accompanied Skip Klingman as he sang both the "National Anthem" and the "Alma Mater." Following the introductions of distinguished guests, Mr. Rene Huckaba presented the alumni address.

The SWOSU cheerleaders then performed a pon-pom routine and a precision cheer for the crowd. Next, Bob Mazie introduced his coaching staff, the starting lineup, and other seniors. Coach Mazie appeared confident about the outcome of the Homecoming game, adding that the excitement created by the cheerleaders, band, and crowd would prove to be a great asset.

DIANE JOHNSON, Altus junior, reigns as 1982 Homecoming Queen.

Rosie's Rap

By ROSE ANN RHODES

In our everyday confrontation with those around us, we are sometimes put in situations that may make us uncomfortable because of a mistake we've made in something we have said or done. What is interesting is the unique way we have invented of squirming out of them.

For instance, once I was working at the desk at Oklahoma Hall lobby one morning when a bright-eyed girl came bouncing down the stairs on her way to class. Most of the girls in the dorm know the resident assistant's working at the desk, but some may only know them by name.

Such was the confused girl's case as she walked by me. She smiled pleasantly and said, "Hello, Lynda." I knew the girl by the name of Cynthia, and to save my composure, I looked up at her with the same smile she had given and replied, "Hello, Rose Ann." Both of us continued with our own business as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

Another fumble-recovery that happened to me came after I had been released from a class that I consider less than interesting. As I was walking with a friend to another class, I began to air a slight grievance I had about a quiz we had just taken in the class. Hearing her give a clearing-of-the-throat sound, I glanced up.

If I had been a lamp post, that professor could have leaned on me. However, I did not lose control. I knew I had to pass his class. As thoughts whirled through my head about a comment I could make to smooth the situation, I gave him my best Garfield smile. Looking like the cat that swallowed the canary, he grinned and said, "How did you like the quiz?" I nodded slowly and thinking a couple of times and replied, "Interesting." We parted and the matter was [hopefully] forgotten.

In dealing with people, we find that we will do anything to "save face" so to speak. The best solution always seems to be best answered by the old cliché to "just grin and bear it."

Dr. Lackey Announces Winners of Contests; SWOSU Students and Faculty Take Honors

Winners of the Poetry Contest and Short Story Contest sponsored by the Custer County Free Fair have been announced by Dr. Sam Lackey, superintendent of the writing division at the fair and assistant professor in the language arts department at Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

Teddy Helinski, Altus, a graduate student at Southwestern, won the blue ribbon for his first-place poem in the amateur judging, and he also took third and fifth places. Linda Wheeler Stong, Weatherford, had the third place and sixth place poems, with fourth place going to Alvin Lee Baker, also of Weatherford.

Con Hood, Weatherford, an assistant professor of English in the language arts department at Southwestern, was awarded first and second in poetry competition for the professional class--poets who teach or have sold manuscripts. Carol R. Lackey, Weatherford, won third and seventh, and Joanna Thurston Roper, Weatherford, who teaches in the English department at Southwestern, had the fourth, fifth, and sixth place poems.

In the amateur class for short-story competition, Dana Wiginton, Clinton, a senior at Southwestern, won first place, and Carla Sue Preston of Arapaho received second.

Dr. Leroy Thomas, professor of English at Southwestern, was awarded ribbons for the first and fourth place stories in the pro-

Student Spotlight Shines on Looper

By DONNA PORTER

Most students on campus aren't aware of all that is required of a head cheerleader, but Kim Looper, Balko freshman, can tell them. As head cheerleader, Looper is responsible for organizing practices, obtaining clearance for pep rallies, keeping track of supplies, checking the other cheerleaders' attendance, and spending at least six hours per week practicing.

Looper was a cheerleader for four years in high school and was chosen NCA All-American Cheerleader both her junior and senior years. When asked how cheerleading in college differs from cheerleading in high school, Looper responded that in college it takes more time and involves much more responsibility. Looper also stated, "Now I feel that cheerleading is more of an art, not just a pastime."

Looper feels she and the other cheerleaders will add much spirit to both the football and basketball seasons this year. "We have a lot of new cheers to use this year," Looper related. "If you have something new, it catches the people's attention."

Although Looper has little free time, she does enjoy participating in sports such as tennis, basketball, and snow skiing when she can. As for cheerleading, Looper considers it a sport, too. And like other sports, it takes much practice and hard work to be good. Looper doesn't seem to mind though. "I really like cheerleading. I've already decided to try out again next year."

CHAPBOOK to Sponsor Four Writing Contests

By DEBBIE DUERKSEN

Something new is happening this year in the Language Arts Department that might be just the thing to enable an avid writer to get something published in a real book.

This year the CHAPBOOK staff is sponsoring four creative writing contests for poets and short story writers from Southwestern and the surrounding community. There will be cash prizes in each contest, and everyone is encouraged to attend. "Especially the students," said Con Hood, sponsor. "There is no entry fee for them, so why not enter?"

Prizes for the short story competition in the student division are $30 for first place, $20 for second place, and $10 for third place. There is no entry fee in this contest.

There is also a poetry contest competition for the student division which also will not require an entry fee. The prizes for this contest will be $15 for first place, $10 for second place, and $5 for third place. The contests in the student division are open to those students who are currently enrolled in college at SWOSU.

The other two contests are in the non-student division, open to SWOSU faculty, alumni, and other western Oklahoma writers. The prizes in this short story contest will be $50 for first place, $35 for second place, and $15 for third place. There will be an entry fee of $5 per story for this division.

ation and a long-time teacher of English at Clinton High School, judged the stories and poems. Ms. Goodwin writes prose and poetry, and she spent several weeks during the past summer studying literature at Oxford University, England.

Prizes in the poetry division will be $30 for first place, $20 for second place, and $10 for third place. There will be a $1 entry fee per poem in this contest.

There will be a 5,000 word limit on the short stories for the contest, but no limit on the number of stories that can be entered.

There are no limits on the lines of poetry or the number of poems that can be submitted to be entered in the contests.

Manuscripts in all four contests must be typed, double-spaced, and submitted with no identifying marks. Good photo copies are acceptable. Each story or poem must have a cover sheet listing the title and the contest division plus the author's name, address, and phone number. Writers who wish that their manuscripts be returned to them must send a self-addressed stamped envelope. In contests requiring an entry fee, the checks should be made out to the CHAPBOOK.

The judges have not been chosen at this time, but the CHAPBOOK staff will try to get someone from outside western Oklahoma area to do the judging.

Other works than those entered in the contest will be considered for publication in the CHAPBOOK. Those wishing to enter a manuscript to the CHAPBOOK, but do not want to enter the creative writing contest, should follow the same rules as for the contest pieces.

The CHAPBOOK staff will also consider some good photography and art drawings to be published in the CHAPBOOK.

Con Hood said that, "We will publish the top winners in each contest. Other manuscripts entered in the contests will also be considered."

Manuscripts are to be mailed to: CHAPBOOK Contest, Language Arts Department, SWOSU, Weatherford, OK 73096, or hand-delivered to: Mrs. Jo Hill, Old Science Building, Room 206, SWOSU.

Archives Reveal Interesting History

By ROSE ANN RHODES

Many Southwestern students probably do not know what the archives of Southwestern are--let alone where they are located. However, if anyone has ever perched to walk through the upstairs of the Al Harris Library, they may have noticed a closed room with the label "The Southwestern Room."

During homecoming this room is open to the public until 5 p.m. and to anyone interested in the history of the university, would find it to be a fascinating tour.

One wall is hung with photographs of the Olympic Wrestling Team, basketball and football players. Another wall has photographs of Distinguished Alumni and past presidents. There is a picture of the entire student body of 1915 and another in 1927. The Southwestern Room also abounds with pictures of various campus buildings including a picture of the old Administration Building as it burned.

For those interested in old newspapers and yearbooks, the room contains copies of all The Southwesterns and annuals. The annuals are now called the Bulldog, but until 1932 they were referred to as the Oracle. There also was once a monthly magazine published by the students called the Mukwisto.

Anyone wandering through could find loads of information on the Bulldog mascot, Brandy. For instance, the first mascot came into being in 1920 when a stray brindle bulldog wandered onto campus. He was "adopted" by the football team and named him Duke. The Duke Awards are so named for this mascot. The name Brandy came into being when Dayton Royse, Summa Cum Laude graduate of Southwestern, gave a full-blooded, registered English bulldog named Brandywine to his Alma Mater. There have been many Brandies since that time, and the Southwestern Room displays each of their distinct and different personalities.

Only a brief look can be seen by writing about this unique and colorful room. In order for a full appreciation to be given, one can find that by dropping by for an investigation of the historical chamber. Anyone interested in further information should ask at the library desk.

Drama Cast to Stage Invalid Farce

The Imaginary Invalid, a Southwestern State University drama production, will run Oct. 6-9 in the Old Science Auditorium. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

The play, which was originally written in 17th century France by Moliere, is a farce that centers around the make-believe aches and pains a hypochondriac believes himself to suffer. An off-beat cast of characters, which includes a saucy servant, a wicked wife, two young lovers, and a host of apothecaries adds merriment to this humorous English adaptation of the play.

The cast includes: Argan, played by Randy Haney, Weatherford; Toinette, played by Kasey

Johnson, Tonkawa; Angelique, played by Reddy Royse, Duncan; Monsieur Fleurant and Thomas Diafoirus, played by Todd Singletary, Guymon; Beline, played by Lori Lillegard, Del City; Monsieur De Bonnefoi, played by Darin Harris, Marlow; Cleante, played by Craig Wood, Guymon; Monsieur Diafoirus and Monsieur Purgon, played by Jesse Adcock, Elk City; Louison, played by Cyndee Hobekott, Lake Keystone, and Beralde, played by Jeff Hays, Guymon.

Tickets for each performance will be available at the door. Admission charge will be $3 for adults and $1 for children. Southwestern students and faculty will receive free admission with valid I.D.'s.

Special half-price nights will be as follows: Wednesday, Oct. 6, 3M employee's night [3M I.D. badge is required]; Thursday, Oct. 7, over 65 night, and Friday, Oct. 8, out-of-town night [driver's license required].

THE CASSETTE-CORDER EVEN A BRILLIANT PROFESSOR CAN USE.

Our TCM-737 is so easy to use, you don't have to worry about your fingers getting lost in a maze of buttons. Recording begins with a simple touch of a button. Push the play button and you'll hear clean, ungarbled sound from the built-in speaker. And the TCM-737 goes to school or work as easily as a lunch box. A built-in handle slides out for easy portability. The sensitive built-in microphone captures every syllable. A cue & review button helps you find any portion of the tape in seconds. There's also an auto shut-off feature to protect the cassette tape. And an LED light signals operation or battery strength. Easy Sony's TCM-737 cassette-corder is at the head of its class.

Chemistry Receives Grant from Halliburton

Halliburton Foundation, Inc., Dallas, has given $2,500 to the Department of Chemistry at Southwestern Oklahoma State University. The grant is to be used during the 1982-83 academic year for faculty support.

Halliburton Services is an operation unit of Halliburton Company, Dallas-based international oil field services and engineering/construction organization. Halliburton Foundation was organized by Halliburton Company in 1965 to provide funds to accredited colleges and universities. In presenting the check, Malone said the Foundation makes direct grants primarily to those colleges and universities from which the Halliburton companies employ a substantial number of graduates. "Because of the highly technical nature of our operations, these grants are given to engineering schools and selected business schools," he added.

"This nation's future depends upon the quality of trained people who come from our system of higher education. Halliburton considers its support to be a prudent investment in the future," Malone said. In addition to its direct financial grants to universities, Halliburton Foundation matches the contributions of its employees on a two-for-one basis. To date more than 350 educational institutions have received support through the direct grant or matching gift program. Total grants amount to over seven million dollars at this time. Southwestern may use the grant to supplement the salaries of faculty members, to make incentive awards, or to provide assistance in professional development activities.

Halliburton Company was founded in 1920 by Earle P. Halliburton as the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company. From its early beginnings as a two-man operation with little financial backing, it has grown into one of the nation's largest multinational corporations. Its net revenues last year were in excess of $8.5 billion.

Nursing Welcomes Fenstermacher

Faculty and staff of the division of nursing welcomed Dr. Helen J. Fenstermacher, R.N., to the division at a reception held recently at Southwestern Oklahoma State University. Dr. Fenstermacher was selected as chairperson of the division in August and just recently arrived from her home in Medfield, Massachusetts.

Dr. Fenstermacher holds a diploma in nursing from Good Samaritan Hospital, Phoenix, Arizona; a BS in Nursing Education from the University of Minnesota, and a MS in Nursing from Boston University. She also holds an Ed.D. in Curriculum and Instruction from Teachers College, Columbia University.

Dr. Fenstermacher has held teaching positions in Boston, Connecticut, New York, and Massachusetts. Her daughter, Heidi, is a junior at Weatherford Public Schools.

Station Stresses Quality And Promotes Campus Events

By ROSE ANN RHODES
Who covers all sport events, conducts interviews, and plays commercial-free music? Any newcomer to Weatherford or the southwestern campus could probably guess KWEY radio as the answer.

Yet, many students may not realize that this radio station that pumps out 70,000 watts over southwestern Oklahoma also is a great benefit to SWOSU. KWEY's regular schedule consists of department and personnel news releases and events which are carried on local news cast and a community calendar. Another not open for Southwestern is "Conversation Corner" at 10:30 a.m. on Mondays. It often features students, faculty, and coaches to talk about their projects.

KWEY also reports all SWOSU sports events which includes live broadcasts of the ball games and the home rodeo. Each week on "Bulldog Corner" and "Bulldog Hute," football, basketball, and video coaches are interviewed about current games. Coach Bob Lazie also has a call-in show called "Bulldog Bark" at 6:30 p.m. on Monday.

In events past, KWEY has played an important part in broadcasting such highlights as the Lady Bulldog championship tournament in Kansas City as well as "The Apple Bowl" from the kingdom in Washington state. Broadcasting from 6 a.m. til 12 m., KWEY programs on both AM and FM stations. According to KWEY, they stress quality radio, and this pressure seems to be paying off since they are receiving requests from advertisers to be put on the FM station because of the clear, crisp coverage of all southwestern Oklahoma. Commercial time is held down to a minimum of 10 minutes per hour, KWEY adds.

The more I see of other countries the more I love my own. Mme. de Stael.

No personal consideration should stand in the way of performing a public duty. Ulysses S. Grant.

NOW THAT school is in full swing, and homecoming has past, students become involved in studying for up-coming exams.

Jazz Show Choir to Debut

allo, Hartshorne freshman, and Keith Garrison, Okmulgee freshman. These members were chosen by audition; therefore, producing a quality vocal group. Accompanying the group will be Kevin Tuttle, Altus senior-drums; Rod Marcha, Altus graduate student-bass player, and Dr. Chapman, piano.

A variety of music ranging from Broadway musical numbers to jazz or "rock-n-roll" may be performed by the choir. During each concert performance, solos, duets, or special group routines may also be presented. The varied repertoire and the occasional addition of choreography to enhance the musical selections combine to produce fantastic choral performances.

The Show Choir's first performance this fall will be Sept. 30 when they entertain the Kiwanis Club members. The selections to be presented include: "Smoke from a Distant Fire"—arranged by Ed Lojeski, "Brothers and Sisters"—arranged by Kirby Shaw, and "Makin' Whoopee!"—also arranged by Kirby Shaw. The Jazz Show Choir will present their fall concert sometime in November.

A song will outlive all sermons in the memory, Henry Giles.

quarterback Tom Middlebrooks replaced him.

Middlebrooks' field goal attempt failed, but the tough Bulldog defense forced the Bearkats to punt from their 17.

With 7:34 showing on the clock, Middlebrooks ran 60 yards and passed to Mark Hoffman who took it from the five to score for the Bulldogs.

Two interceptions by Pete Gaines and Kimble stopped the Bulldogs' drive in the last seven minutes of playing.

Middlebrooks completed a 32-yard field goal after a 75-yard drive to make the Bulldogs score once again.

This Saturday, the Bulldogs will host Cameron University.

WRONG IS RIGHT

Bearkats were unable to move on their possession during the second half.

Quarterback Binky Ford and tight end Willie Warren combined for 17 yards to Southwestern's 45. Bulldog defense stiffened after Roger Wiley made a 124-yard rush and ducked inside for 12 yards to the Bulldog 33.

After the Bearkats advanced inside the 40-yard line, the Bulldogs began to have trouble. Jones kicked a 50-yard field goal, giving Sam Houston their first lead of the day, 12-9. Sam Houston's defense stopped the Bulldog's on their first possession of the second half when Steve Price punted a short 15 yards, giving the Bearkats excellent field position.

Ford then tossed a strike to Wilson for the Bearkat's biggest gain, a 40-yard touchdown completion.

Shelton stole a handoff from Ford and put Southwestern at Sam Houston's 47 with 1:08 left in the third quarter. After two first downs, the Bulldogs were stopped at the 34.
